Challenge #1: Goal

My goal is to make an website about the Traditional Filipino Dishes in the Philippines, to remind that every people here in the Philippines that we had our own dishes that is easy to cook. One significant aspect of cultural life is food culture. A nation's culinary customs might reveal its evolving social structure and humanistic outlook. The Philippines cuisine is rich in historical significance and has its own distinct internal culture. This website plans aim to create an immersive platform that celebrates and shares the richness of Traditional Filipino Dishes while providing an interactive and informative experience for users. I will also apply my learnings in W3School for this project for me to able add more features and create a creative website for me. Including the covers, header, the tags and everything that can be helpful in this project. My goal is to have a website that is functional and worth it to use with.
